

Beyond Our Four Walls

A community outreach proposal for Provis Coffee

Why I'm standing up here

THE MOMENT WE'RE IN

The shop comes first.

Doors open in September. This role starts November 1, after we've worked out the opening kinks and found our rhythm.

The city is already calling.

The Mayor's office has asked for our help. That's not marketing that's an invitation.

Connection is literally our name.

Provis comes from a Dickens novel. We are a brand built on stories and stories live in community.

“Provis was never meant to stop at the front door.”

Our values already point outward

SAME FOUR VALUES — BIGGER ROOM

Craftsmanship

Bring competition-level coffee to places that never see it: city events, school mornings, fundraisers.

Hospitality

Don't wait for the city to walk in. Go welcome the whole city where it already gathers.

Beauty

Make community gatherings feel considered and memorable, the Provis touch, off-site.

Stories

Every partner has one: officers, librarians, teachers, shop owners. We help tell them.

The role: Community Outreach Coordinator

WHAT I'M PROPOSING

One person whose whole job is the bridge between Provis and North Kansas City, building relationships with the city's institutions, coordinating and running our presence at off-site events, and feeding everything we learn back into the shop.

Relationships

Be Provis' consistent, friendly face to the Mayor's office, police, library, YMCA, schools, Parks & Rec, and local businesses.

Off-site events

Own our off-site presence end-to-end, from the first conversation to pouring the last cup at the event itself.

Collaboration

Work hand-in-hand with the in-shop events lead so off-site relationships feed on-site programming: one calendar, one brand.

The door is already open

TWO PARTNERSHIPS ALREADY WAITING FOR US

Coffee with a Cop

The Mayor's office wants this program back and hosted at Provis. That's the national model anyway: Coffee with a Cop lives indoors at a coffee shop. A winter relaunch makes us the warm room in a cold month.

THEY CALLED US.

NKC Public Library

A coffee brand named after a Dickens character, two blocks of city between us and a beloved public library. Book clubs, author nights, summer reading, story hours with Provis pour-overs, it's a no-brainer.

OUR STORY BELONGS ON THEIR SHELVES.

Making Coffee with a Cop work this time

WHAT WE LEARNED FROM THE LAST RUN — AND HOW WE'D FIX IT

LAST TIME: LOW TURNOUT

A row of police cars outside made it read as a scene, not a coffee break and neighbors kept walking.

A Provis morning, not a police event

Co-branded, drop-in, no speeches: free drip, kids' cocoa, officers seated at tables with conversation starters.

A soft footprint

A few officers, cruisers parked out back, at most one out front as a kid-friendly attraction, not a barricade.

Same time every month

A first-Saturday rhythm. Comfort comes from familiarity, the third one will out-draw the first.

WITH RONNI & JASON — MARKETING

Designed with marketing from day one

- Pre-event push through partner channels: library, schools, YMCA, city newsletters
- One co-branded look for every community event
- Photos and a recap after each event, building momentum for the next
- Track turnout together so we know what's working

I bring the partners. Marketing brings the crowd.

Two lanes, one story

WHAT I'D OWN — AND WHAT I WOULDN'T

My lane: out in the community

Relationships with the city, schools, library, YMCA & businesses

Coordinating and running our off-site events, end to end

The partner pipeline and community calendar

Being Provis' consistent face around North Kansas City

Not my lane: in-shop events

Café-hosted events belong to the in-shop events lead and Randall already has strong candidates for that role.

Shop-hosted partner events, like Coffee with a Cop, are the lanes meeting: I bring the partner, they run the room.

One shared calendar, so off-site and on-site always tell the same story.

This isn't charity — it's how we grow

WHAT OUTREACH EARNS THE BUSINESS

Brand, everywhere

Every event puts our cups and our name in hands that have never walked down Buchanan Street.

New regulars

A first sip at the library or a 5K becomes a Saturday habit at the café. Outreach is our funnel.

Wholesale & catering

Schools, offices, city events, the YMCA, every partnership is a standing order waiting to happen.

Goodwill & press

Being the coffee shop that shows up for its city earns coverage and loyalty money can't buy.

My first 90 days

NOVEMBER THROUGH JANUARY — AFTER THE SHOP FINDS ITS FOOTING

NOVEMBER

Listen

- Introductory meetings: Mayor's office, NKCPD, library, YMCA, schools, Parks & Rec
- Walk the business district, door to door
- Ask every partner one question: where can Provis help?

DECEMBER

First wins

- Relaunch Coffee with a Cop, hosted indoors at the shop, per the Mayor's office
- Show up for the holidays downtown with Parks & Rec and merchant neighbors
- Design the library pilot: book club or author night

JANUARY

Rhythm

- Host the first library pilot event
- Shared community calendar live with the in-shop events lead
- Report back to this team: what NKC is telling us

The 12-month game plan

DOORS OPEN SEPTEMBER · SHOP STABILIZES · ROLE STARTS NOVEMBER 1 · ANNIVERSARY SEPTEMBER 2027

Q1 · NOV–JAN

Listen & launch

- Listening tour: all seven partner doors opened
- Coffee with a Cop relaunched, hosted at the shop, before year-end
- Holiday presence downtown with Parks & Rec and merchants
- Library pilot hosted + shared community calendar live

Q2 · FEB–APR

Make it rhythm

- Coffee with a Cop becomes monthly
- Teacher-appreciation program launched with NKC Schools
- First wholesale or catering account signed
- Spring festival season planned with Parks & Rec

Q3 · MAY–JUL

Grow the network

- Festival & market season in full swing with Parks & Rec
- YMCA partnership live, youth programs and race-day pours
- Summer reading partnership with the library
- Wholesale accounts two and three in motion

Q4 · AUG–OCT

Make it permanent

- Anniversary block party with the city (September 2027)
- Library series locked in as a recurring quarterly program
- Year-two renewals confirmed with every recurring partner
- Year-one report and the year-two plan back to this team

Working backwards from September 2027

SET THE FINISH LINE FIRST — THEN CHECK THE MILE MARKERS

SEPTEMBER 2027 — THE NORTH STAR

Provis' first anniversary: and we're the community shop of North Kansas City.

- 6+ recurring institutional partnerships
- Monthly Coffee with a Cop
- Quarterly library literary series
- 3+ wholesale / catering accounts
- Anniversary block party, co-hosted with the city

JULY 2027 • MONTH 9

Every partner has co-hosted at least one event, three wholesale accounts are in motion, and the block party is planned, renewals become easy asks, not cold calls.

APRIL 2027 • MONTH 6

Three programs running on a repeating schedule and the first standing order signed, the proof we need before festival season.

JANUARY 2027 • MONTH 3

All seven doors opened and both flagship wins live: Coffee with a Cop relaunched and the first library event hosted.

If a mile marker slips, we know quarters early — not at the anniversary.

Calling the Mayor's office back

THEY REACHED OUT FIRST — HERE'S HOW I'D RESPOND. I WANT YOUR INPUT ON THE TIMING.

TOUCH 1 · THE COMMITMENT NOTE — TIMING: YOUR CALL

A short, personal note from me: thank you for the Coffee with a Cop interest, the team has created an outreach role, and relaunch conversations begin in November with the first event before year-end.

TOUCH 2 · SEPTEMBER — OPENING INVITATION

A grand-opening invitation to the Mayor's office and NKCPD. They see the shop, meet the team, and put faces to names — no asks, just hospitality.

TOUCH 3 · FIRST WEEK OF NOVEMBER — KICKOFF

My first official meeting in the role: sit down with the Mayor's office and NKCPD, confirm the shop as host, as they've hoped, and lock the first event on the December calendar.

WHERE I WANT YOUR INPUT

When should the commitment note go out?

- Right after the retreat: my lean, so their interest doesn't cool
- In September, paired with the opening invitation
- Not until we're open and settled

I'll own the message and the relationship — you help me pick the moment.

How we'll know it's working

I'LL BRING THESE NUMBERS BACK TO EVERY RETREAT
